Location overview

Prime Educational Hub

Downtown Edmonton is home to two esteemed educational institutions: NorQuest College and MacEwan University. NorQuest focuses on career-oriented education for a diverse student body, including newcomers to Canada and Indigenous peoples. MacEwan offers various undergraduate programs in a supportive environment. Both institutions anticipate 30 to 50 percent student population growth by 2030. NorQuest, leasing over 60,000 sf on Jasper Ave, says this is less than 15% of the new space needed. MacEwan recently began constructing a business school at 109th St and 105th Ave, set to open in 2027 for 7,500 new students. Leaders advocate for a new “education district” to support growth. Currently, they bring 30,000 people downtown every weekday.

Shopping and Dining Delight

Discover a shopping paradise filled with boutique stores and embark on a culinary journey with a wide array of dining options. From casual cafes to gourmet restaurants, the diverse offerings reflect the city's rich multicultural tapestry.

Seamless Connectivity

Experience seamless connectivity with extensive public transit options, including buses and the Light Rail Transit (LRT) system. Navigating the city is effortless, whether you're commuting for work, study, or leisure.

Exciting Developments

Experience Edmonton's transformation with the ICE District, a major redevelopment project within walking distance. It features the state-of-the-art Rogers Place arena, luxury hotels, trendy restaurants, and bustling commercial spaces, significantly enhancing downtown's appeal.

Additionally, Warehouse Park, a new 1.81-hectare park in the downtown Warehouse District, will transform vacant parking lots into a natural oasis. Spanning west of 106th Street to beyond 107th Street, between Jasper Avenue and 102nd Avenue, this park will offer much-needed green space and recreational facilities in the downtown core.
